A.A. Members' Favorite Quote

When we retire at night, we constructively review our day. We are resentful, selfish, dishonest, or afraid? Do we owe an apology? Have we kept something to ourselves which should be discussed with another person at once? Were we kind and loving toward all? What could we have done better? Where we thinking of ourselves most of the time? Or were we thinking of what we could do for other, of what we could pack into the stream of life?

But we must be careful not to drift into worry, remorse or morbid reflection, for that would diminish our usefulness to others. After making our review we ask God's forgiveness and inquire what corrective measure should be taken.

Alcoholics anonymous p. 98 and 99

Out now...New book!
Our Twelve Steps

Brochure explained : Problem other than alcohol

This practical booklet demonstrates through simple examples how A.A. members throughout the world live and stay away from that “first drink” one day at a time. Covers topics such as attending events where alcohol is served, relationships in sobriety and much more.

Here, we tell only some methods we have used for living without drinking. You are welcome to all of them, whether you are interested in Alcoholics Anonymous or not. Our drinking was connected with many habits—big and little. Some of them were thinking habits, or things we felt inside ourselves. Others were doing habits—things we did, actions we took. In getting used to not drinking, we have found that we needed new habits to take the place of those old ones.
